

Singing Arrow Community Center

Singing Arrow Community Center is nestled in an area of Albuquerque that has a very unique cultural and economic diversity. Currently, the structure of the community center is inadequate and does not meet the needs of the community. Councilor Harris is excited to start working with Family and Community Services to ensure that the facility is better able to meet the needs of the community and that the Department is actively working on plans for a new facility.